Bio

Rosa Nice, a BMI artist and songwriter, is an entertainer whose spirit drifts in the wind, and one whose music has no boundaries and touches all. She believes that from dust we are all born and to dust we all return. Rosa currently resides in Philadelphia, but she lays claim to the whole Earth as her stomping grounds. The product of a military family, Rosa is a pretty one to look at, but her mesmerizing harmonies and her memorable melodies are what keep your attention as she continues to grow as a musician, as a writer, as an entertainer, and as a person. Determined to succeed after separating from an abusive husband, Rosa found that her only way out of depression was through music and self-love.

Her accolades include an associates in psychology, opening for Young Swag at Voltage Lounge, singing for the Philadelphia Holiday Giveback 2019, hosting HiiPowerRadio on Blazin267, hosting QMic Radio on 92.9 fm, and she has been interviewed at radio stations in NYC, Philadelphia, Atlanta, and Miami.

With over 100,000 streams for her debut project, Rosa Nice to Meet You, Rosa gives credit to her production team including the legendary Larry Gold's Milkboy Studio and PopTraxx of HDE Luxury Studio, both which are in the heart of Philadelphia. Rosa has hosted multiple concerts, and she also has performed over twenty times in the last two years.

In March of 2020, Rosa performed for the VFILES quarantine series which inspired her to host and plan her own virtual Indie Music Concert. The concert had performers such as A&R of Jetlife DJ Kelly Green from New Orleans and Love & HipHop Atlanta's Big Boss Mulaa. Rosa used this concert as a beginning to her Quarantine Q&A series where she interviews celebrity DJs, Musicians, A&Rs, & promoters asking them how they've been staying healthy and inspired during the 2020 pandemic.

In April of 2020, Rosa was also made an official playlist curator through Pandora Radio which has added over 2000 streams to her catalogue.

In May of 2020, Rosa Nice opened NSNRP, Not So Nice Records & Promotions. A music label and publishing media group determined to help small businesses and indie artists succeed. Rosa Nice has also partnered with multiple brands an an ambassador to promote their products on her instagram account which has grown to 12,000 followers in two years. Rosa uses her platform to promote music, activism, and wellness. As of August 2020, Rosa has three music videos on YouTube totaling over 23,000 streams.

Rosa Nice has also performed for four charity events through the City of Dreams Coalition, a non-profit organization which runs an annual concert and giveback series called The Stop The Violence Tour. This tour travels around the city of Philadelphia bringing clean music and free resources, such as healthcare, food, and clothing, to the people of that neighborhood. Rosa is a social justice advocate who works closely with the organization to ensure the youth of Philadelphia have access to opportunity.

As Rosa prepares to release a music video for her single VIP featuring Ponzo Houdini produced by DJ Frankie French, she continues to create connections in the music industry and has some seriously exciting production on her next project.
