Element Everest-Blanks

ABOUT ME

Element Everest-Blanks is a cultural architect, media executive, and global music advocate widely known as “The Culture Plug.” Through storytelling, media, and cultural programming, she connects artists, communities, and institutions while amplifying the influence of Black music and Culture.

A sought-after speaker, Everest-Blanks participated in the first-ever global Women in Music speaking panel, joining industry leaders discussing the future of music and equity in the industry. Her impact has earned her the Dear MKE Award from Visit Milwaukee and the Cultural Catalyst Unity Award.

She serves as a Grammy U mentor, Recording Academy Advocacy Committee member, NIVA contributor, NABJ Milwaukee board member, and Amplifier-in-Residence at the Marcus Performing Arts Center.
